Kiwanians Urged To Back Parkway Along Neshaminy

Tract Proposed For Park Near New High School

PENNDDEL, July 22—A proposal to construct a parkway along the banks of the Neshaminy Creek as the initial move to establish a park system throughout Bucks county. Warren A. Custer, president of the Citizens' Council for Bucks County Planning, told a group at Flannery's Restaurant last night that a parkway, running from the Delaware River to Doylestown, would be a great improvement for the area.

He addressed the Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis Club, informing them that the first move to establish parks is the appointment of a park and recreation commission by the County Commissioners. He urged all civic groups to petition the commissioners to appoint such a board.

John T. Mladjen, executive director of the Citizens' Council, called the attention of the Kiwanians to a 200-acre tract surrounding the new Neshaminy Junior-Senior High School at Janney, part of which could be used as a park, he said.

Mladjen said the tract adjoins the Neshaminy Creek, but could be developed as a bathing beach and arboretum. The tract abounds with birds and animals, he said, and little expense would be incurred in making it into an attractive park.

Howard Hallman, metropolitan consultant for the Philadelphia Housing Association, told the members that much of the city's Fairmount Park system had been acquired through gifts and added that a county park and recreation commission could accept gifts of land should it be offered by individuals or groups.

266-Year-Old Bolton Mansion Goes To Township

EMILIE, July 22—The granting of the 266-year-old Bolton Mansion to Bristol twp. for municipal use was officially announced yesterday afternoon by the donors, Levitt & Sons, Inc., and George Sottung, president of the township commissioners.

The gift has been accepted, Sottung said, and transfer of the township offices is hoped for before summer is over. Formal transfer of title to the property is expected within a month.

"It is a wonderful thing for Bristol twp. to get a headquarters like this at no expense to the taxpayers," Sottung said. "The commissioners and the entire township deeply appreciate the gift. It means that Bristol twp. will have one of the finest town halls of any township in the entire state."

All municipal functions will be concentrated in the building, he said, including police headquarters, and offices of the tax collector, building inspector and zoning committee. The commissioners' meetings will be held in the historic building.

The farm, on the south side of Newportville-Fallsington road west of Levittown Parkway, is "situated in the heart of Levittown," according to Levitt's announcement. Perched on a hill, it overlooks present Levittown houses, with Fairless Steel Works smokestacks in the background. The value of the property is estimated at $150,000.

2 of 3 Controversial Child Care Bills Up for Vote Today

HARRISBURG, July 22—(INS)—Two of three child care and adoption bills drawn by the Governor's committee on youth are scheduled for final vote in the House today.

Both measures have been passed over previously but the GOP caucus has reportedly approved a final floor test on the bills.

The administration's child welfare program includes one bill, approved by the Senate, to establish uniform adoption procedures in the state.

Two supplementary house bills expand county child care services and provide state aid for the programs.

Agreement has been reached by civic and church groups on the adoption measure, which gives the State Welfare Department authority to regulate private adoption agencies.

Still in the House Appropriations Committee is the bill setting up a $1,500,000 state fund for aid to county child care services.

The county child care program has been backed by 17 civic groups and Pennsylvania Protestant Churches, but attacked by Philadelphia Archbishop John F. O'Hara, of the Roman Catholic Church.

"The bill," he said, "would do serious harm to dependent and neglected children now cared for by the church by virtually destroying Catholic child-caring agencies and by handing such children to the complete domination and control of civil authorities."

Swim Cards Boost Civic Assn. Roster To 1000 in Month

EDGELEY, July 22—Membership in the Levittown Civic Association increased in the past month from 69 to 1,000 families, Ralph Jones, treasurer, announced last night at a meeting of the group in the fire house.

His official report, made at the opening of the meeting, set the membership at 678, but before the meeting was over, dues were turned in from more than 300 additional families.

The dollar-a-year dues increased the Civic Association's treasury nearly $1800, Jones said.

The growing enrollment, the treasurer said, is the result of a current recruiting drive in connection with issuing swimming pool identification cards. Association workers solicit new members as they deliver the cards to every home in Levittown.

The swimming cards, to restrict Brook Park and Magnolia Park pools to Levittown residents, will not go into effect until all are distributed, Edward Hough, president of the Association, announced. Reporting for David Melnick, chairman of the pool committee, Hough said volunteers will check Levittowners' cards at the swimming pool gates.

Asked whether the volunteers will be supported in holding back outsiders, Hough replied, "Mr. Continued on Page Two

Canaries, Parakeets Make Hobby For Croydon Woman

CROYDON, July 22—Pure white canaries might be difficult for some people to raise, but Mrs. Charles Laycock, 1043 Rosa Avenue, Croydon, takes it in her stride. Up-to-date she has 25 canaries, four of which are only one week old, and two parakeets.

Mrs. Laycock, who came here in 1919 from Dundee, Scotland, where she was born, was given her first canary as a birthday present on August 15, 1952. Since then all but three of the birds have been bred. Right now all the birds she has, are promised to buyers, but she will continue to raise them as long as she can sell them.

Each one of Mrs. Laycock's birds has a name, and she never fails to recognize them. She says that some canaries live as long as 14 years, but that is extremely rare—it's usually 7 or 8.

During the mating season, from April to July, she places a tea strainer and nesting material in the cage and they build their own nest. Canaries lay from two to five eggs at one time, and the incubation period is 13 days.

Mrs. Laycock went into this venture with no previous experience, and she considers herself fortunate that it turned out so well.

Mrs. Laycock has four children, four grandchildren and has lived in Croydon for 23 years.

Sag in Bridge At Morrisville Proves Puzzler

Who Shall Pay For Repairs Is Latest Problem

MORRISVILLE, July 22—The question of who will foot the bill to repair a mysterious sagging in a new repair operation on the Morrisville-Trenton toll bridge approach, confronts the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and a contractor today.

A 40-foot section of the approach to the span began to sag less than seven months after it was opened to traffic. Workmen are just now completing the project while engineers are pondering the problem of what caused the condition and who should be obliged to pay for remedying the condition.

Employees of the Union Building and Construction Co. of Passaic, N. J., have been at work for three weeks, attempting to correct the condition, which was noticed a month ago. The sag also affected more than 150 feet of the parapet adjoining the roadway.

J. Arthur Johnson, the company's chief engineer, admitted he was perplexed by the sag. "If you can tell us, you're better than a dozen engineers who have inspected it," he told a reporter.

Others expressed the opinion that perhaps the recent heavy rains in the area during the period the concrete was setting, may have been responsible for the sag.

Johnson estimates the cost of repairing the sag will run anywhere from $8000 to $76,000, and admitted he did not know who would be held responsible for the situation.

He said indirectly that the Bridge Commission might be obliged to pay for the repair, but Robert A. Hainey, comptroller for the commission, said he thought the contractor should repair the sag.

Jerry Bloom, Bristol High athletic director, announced that Davis' track prowess has won him an athletic scholarship. Bloom discussed the school's athletic program. Coach Anthony (Chic) DeAngelo of the relaymen received the Lions' congratulation for developing the state champions.

Two Joint Landfills Urged As Cure For County Refuse Ills

2 County Students Cited As Scholars

Out of more than 170 students, two Bucks county residents were cited for outstanding scholarship during the Spring semester in the School of the Liberal Arts at Pennsylvania State College.

The two from Bucks county are Bernice E. Yerkes, Maple drive, Davisville, a senior in commerce, with an average of 2.60 and Charles E. Mathias, 2nd street, Penn's Park, a junior in journalism, with an average of 2.66.

Although an average of 2.50 or better is required for the Dean's List, 17 of the 171 named, completed the Spring semester with a perfect average of 3.00, said Dr. Ben Enwema, dean of the School, in announcing the names of the students attaining the Dean's List.

Boroughs, Twps. May Join Forces To Beat Problem

The use of jointly-operated centrally-located sanitary landfills to bury refuse was recommended to Lower Bucks County officials last night in a six-month survey report released by the Pennsylvania Economy League.

The townships and boroughs were urged to work together in operating two regional landfills, to avoid duplicate costs of equipment and operation.

Wilbur Webb, staff engineer of the League, who directed the study, urged landfill as "a solution which would call for the end of obnoxious open dumps."

Construction of incinerators would cost three or four times as much as necessary equipment for landfill, the engineer said, and the incinerators would cost about twice as much to operate.

Township and borough officials of Lower Bucks met with the Economy League and Bucks County Planning Commission at Bristol High School to hear the report. Harold N. Crocker, a member of both the League and Commission, presided.

Others who spoke were Franklin Wood, executive director of the Planning Commission and Herman Otto, executive director of Bucks County Branch of the Economy League.

"Open dumping, while it may have been satisfactory in the past, is no longer tolerable in this growing area which daily becomes more densely populated," Webb said. His report condemned dumps as "the worst menace to public health."

"They provide the best possible feeding, breeding and harborage place for rats, flies and other disease-carrying vermin and insects," the Economy League reported. "In addition, dumps are obnoxious because of appearance, odor and fires, and thus are a detriment to the property values and general appearance of the area."

Webb maintained that landfills are the only solution to the disposal problem, "since there is more than adequate open low land that could actually be improved by sanitary landfill, in addition to being so much cheaper than incineration."

In the landfill operation, Webb said, refuse is buried in a trench six to eight feet deep, and covered with 24 inches of soil. The land can be immediately reused, he said, for recreation and parking areas, but is not satisfactory for building.

Twp. Police Nab Farmingdale D P In Bolton Burglary

Bristol twp. Police today will question a Farmingdale, N. J., man arrested in the Bolton mansion, Newportville road, last night on suspicion of stealing fixtures and plumbing from the old house and an adjoining stone building.

The suspect, identified by Police Chief John R. Stewart as Vladimir Ukloff, 46, a displaced person who does not speak English, was lodged in Bristol Municipal Jail. Chief Stewart will use an interpreter to today to investigate further. Two companions are believed to have escaped.

Ukloff was arrested at 9:30 p. m. by Officers Harry Bauer, Charles Haines and George Neil, who entered the house with flashlights and revolvers in their hands. Officer John Walerick, of Tullytown police, was called to the scene and guarded the outside of the house.

Fixtures and plumbing valued at $300 were taken from the houses in the past month, the police chief said. A night watchman assigned by Levitt & Sons to guard a nearby barn, spotted the intruders and notified the township police.

The Bolton mansion was recently presented to the township by Levitt & Sons.

2 of 3 Controversial Child Care Bills Up for Vote Today

HARRISBURG, July 22 — (INS) — Two of three child care and adoption bills drawn by the Governor's committee on youth are scheduled for final vote in the House today.

Both measures have been passed over previously but the GOP caucus has reportedly approved a final floor test on the bills.

The administration's child welfare program includes one bill, approved by the Senate, to establish uniform adoption procedures in the state.

Two supplementary house bills expand county child care services and provide state aid for the programs.

Agreement has been reached by civic and church groups on the adoption measure, which gives the State Welfare Department authority to regulate private adoption agencies.

Still in the House Appropriations Committee is the bill setting up a $1,500,000 state fund for aid to county child care services.

The county child care program has been backed by 17 civic groups and Pennsylvania Protestant Churches, but attacked by Philadelphia Archbishop John F. O'Hara, of the Roman Catholic Church.

"The bill," he said, "would do serious harm to dependent and neglected children now cared for by the church by virtually destroying Catholic child-caring agencies and by handing such children to the complete domination and control of civil authorities."

Swim Cards Boost Civic Assn. Roster To 1000 in Month

EDGELEY, July 22 — Membership in the Levittown Civic Association increased in the past month from 69 to 1,000 families, Ralph Jones, treasurer, announced last night at a meeting of the group in the fire house.

His official report, made at the opening of the meeting, set the membership at 678, but before the meeting was over, dues were turned in from more than 300 additional families.

The dollar-a-year dues increased the Civic Association's treasury nearly $1800, Jones said.

The growing enrollment, the treasurer said, is the result of a current recruiting drive in connection with issuing swimming pool identification cards. Association workers solicit new members as they deliver the cards to every home in Levittown.

The swimming cards, to restrict Brook Park and Magnolia Park pools to Levittown residents, will not go into effect until all are distributed, Edward Hough, president of the Association, announced. Reporting for David Melnick, chairman of the pool committee, Hough said volunteers will check Levittown's cards at the swimming pool gates.

Asked whether the volunteers will be supported in holding back outsiders, Hough replied, "Mr. Continued on Page Two

Canaries, Parakeets Make Hobby For Crofton Woman

CROFTON, July 22 — Pure white canaries might be difficult for some people to raise, but Mrs. Charles Laycock, 1043 Rosa Avenue, Crofton, takes it in her stride.

Up-to-date she has 25 canaries, four of which are only one week old, and two parakeets.

Mrs. Laycock, who came here in 1919 from Dundee, Scotland, where she was born, was given her first canary as a birthday present on August 15, 1952. Since then all but three of the birds have been bred. Right now all the birds she has, are promised to buyers, but she will continue to raise them as long as she can sell them.

Sag in Bridge At Morrisville Proves Puzzler Who Shall Pay For Repairs Is Latest Problem

MORRISVILLE, July 22 — The question of who will foot the bill to repair a mysterious sagging in a new repair operation on the Morrisville-Trenton toll bridge approach, confronts the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and a contractor today.

A 40-foot section of the approach to the span began to sag less than seven months after it was opened to traffic. Workmen are just now completing the project while engineers are pondering the problem of what caused the condition and who should be obliged to pay for remedying the condition.

Employees of the Union Building and Construction Co. of Passaic, N. J., have been at work for three weeks, attempting to correct the condition, which was noticed a month ago. The sag also affected more than 150 feet of the parapet adjoining the roadway.

J. Arthur Johnson, the company's chief engineer, admitted he was perplexed by the sag. "If you can tell us, you're better than a dozen engineers who have inspected it," he told a reporter.

Others expressed the opinion that perhaps the recent heavy rains in the area during the period the concrete was setting, may have been responsible for the sag.

Johnson estimates the cost of repairing the sag will run anywhere from $8000 to $75,000, and admitted he did not know who would be held responsible for the situation.

He said indirectly that the Bridge Commission might be obliged to pay for the repair, but Robert A. Hainey, comptroller for the commission, said he thought the contractor should repair the sag.

A talk on athletics was given by James Elliott, Villanova College coach. Other guests were Robert Woods, Steve Masney, Anthony Mando and Jack Munts.

Twp. Police Nab Farmingdale D P In Bolton Burglary

Bristol twp. Police today will question a Farmingdale, N. J., man arrested in the Bolton mansion, Newportville road, last night on suspicion of stealing fixtures and plumbing from the old house and an adjoining stone building.

The suspect, identified by Police Chief John R. Stewart as Vladimir Ukloff, 46, a displaced person who does not speak English, was lodged in Bristol Municipal Jail. Chief Stewart will use an interpreter today to investigate further. Two companions are believed to have escaped.

Ukloff was arrested at 9.30 p. m. by Officers Harry Bauer, Charles Haines and George Neil, who entered the house with flashlights and revolvers in their hands. Officer John Walerick, of Tullytown police, was called to the scene and guarded the outside of the house.

Fixtures and plumbing valued at $300 were taken from the houses in the past month, the police chief said. A night watchman assigned by Levitt & Sons to guard a nearby barn, spotted the intruders and notified the township police.

The Bolton mansion was recently presented to the township by Levitt & Sons.

Boroughs, Twps. May Join Forces To Beat Problem

The use of jointly-operated centrally-located sanitary landfills to bury refuse was recommended to Lower Bucks County officials last night in a six-month survey report released by the Pennsylvania Economy League.

The townships and boroughs were urged to work together in operating two regional landfills, to avoid duplicate costs of equipment and operation.

Wilbur Webb, staff engineer of the League, who directed the study, urged landfill as "a solution which would call for the end of obnoxious open dumps."

Construction of incinerators would cost three or four times as much as necessary equipment for landfill, the engineer said, and the incinerators would cost about twice as much to operate.

Township and borough officials of Lower Bucks met with the Economy League and Bucks County Planning Commission at Bristol High School to hear the report. Harold N. Crocker, a member of both the League and Commission, presided.

Others who spoke were Franklin Wood, executive director of the Planning Commission and Herman Otto, executive director of Bucks County Branch of the Economy League.

"Open dumping, while it may have been satisfactory in the past, is no longer tolerable in this growing area which daily becomes more densely populated," Webb said. His report condemned dumps as "the worst menace to public health."

"They provide the best possible feeding, breeding and harborage place for rats, flies and other disease-carrying vermin and insects," the Economy League reported. "In addition, dumps are obnoxious because of appearance, odor and fire, and thus are a detriment to the property values and general appearance of the area."

Webb maintained that landfills are the only solution to the disposal problem. "Since there is more than adequate open low land that could actually be improved by sanitary landfill, in addition to being so much cheaper than incineration."

In the landfill operation, Webb said, refuse is buried in a trench six to eight feet deep, and covered with 24 inches of soil. The land can be immediately reused, he said for recreation and parking areas, but is not satisfactory for building.

'Wonders of Wood' Discussed Before Bucks Scientists

NEWTOWN, July 22—Three new members were recorded at the meeting of Bucks County Natural Science Association, held in Newtown Friends Meeting house Saturday, namely Mr. and Mrs. Theophil Kuczynski, Langhorne, and Mrs. Howard E. Leatherman, Doylestown. Stephen Chryn presided.

Palmer Sharpless, instructor in industrial art at George School, spoke on "The Wonders of Wood." He had charts showing many products of trees—gums, resins, nuts, fruit, pulp for paper, cellulose, etc.; also where trees of this area come from. He informed that a lot of hardwood comes from Pennsylvania and New Jersey and parts of New York.

Mr. Sharpless' information included: "The Eastern Hemlock is different from the Western one. The New Jersey State tree is the Atlantic white cedar from which boats are made. There are 1182 trees in the United States of recognized commercial value. Sequoias are 4000 years old. Pecans in the South are used now for furniture as well as for their nut crop. The wood is similar to walnut but lighter in color. Apple wood used to be used for planes and for saw handle; it is a hard, close-knit wood. Hemlock has one serious defect—a tendency to make a shake, two layers will separate during a windstorm, leaving a crack in the wood. In crotch wood the grain of the wood is twisted and interlocking in order to strengthen the crotch of the tree. It is very beautiful as is also stump burl. In birds-eye maple, a lot of buds get started and then are scrambled, no one knows why."

Mr. Sharpless explained the interlocking grain of the African mahogany and showed a sample of it and many other woods.

Howard E. Smith, Westfield, N. J. who recently spent two years in South America, mostly in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, told of the delightful temperature there. He said Brazil is greatly in need of more telephones, more roads, more hospitals, and more schools. "Rio is a very beautiful city and very mountainous; trees grow in the business part of the city; there are beautiful parks and fountains. Most of the sidewalks in Rio are mosaic."

Mr. Smith showed pictures of poinsettias, which grow wild; the eppa tree with yellow flowers; flamboyant tree; bougainvillea vine; jacaranda tree; and a tree fern 20 feet high.

He went down the coast to Buenos Aires, across the Argentine pampas to Chile and to Peru. In Montevideo a huge camphor tree has a spread of 180 feet.

He described the Andes as bare brown mountains, snowcapped. Llamas were shown. They are very tame, are mostly used as beasts of burden though their long wool is also used. The wild and scarce, native vicuna has a long neck similar to the llama, "and a nasty disposition," he added.

Black and white pictures were of huge anthills, fruiting papaya trees, the travelers tree, coffee tree orchards, the cows with the shouder hump and native villages.

Two Birch Valley housewives, members of Birch Valley Women's League, told the Association of sectional problems.

Mrs. Wilma Fitzpatrick said a ridge at the rear of the houses from 20 to 52 Birch drive is causing from six inches to two feet of water to collect near the sloping backyards.

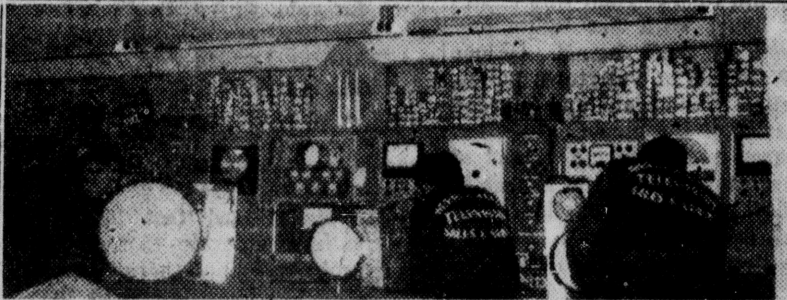

"The presence of water attracts children and is a constant threat to their lives," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said. "There is a danger that they will stray into it and be drowned."

The parents are continuously concerned. We do not want a Birch Valley tragedy to replace our memory of the Black Ditch tragedy. "In dry spells, when the water doesn't move," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said, "it becomes a breeding place for mosquitoes." She said that residents had complained to Levitt & Sons "15 weeks ago, but no action was taken."

The same thing is true in Thornridge on the Newportville road site," said George Spiro, of 414 Thornridge drive.

The Association moved that the Health and Safety Committee be asked to bring the problem to the attention of the builder.

Mrs. Sarah Zuczek, of 69 Birch drive, complained that a wooded section near her home is being used for dumping. The site, she said, is bounded by Barberry lane, Birch drive, Boulder lane and Buttonwood lane. The Health and Safety committee was urged to act on this problem also.

mansion, but not the nearby stone house and barn, it was announced.

Levitt completed purchase of the Bolton farm from Danherst Corp., builders of Fairless Hills Village, in January. The mansion was built in 1687 by Phineas Pemberton, a Quaker emigre from England, who secured the land directly from William Penn.

A new section, including the front entrance was added to the house in 1790. The homestead remained in the Pemberton family for a century and went into the possession of the Morris family in the late 1790s after the marriage of Mary Pemberton to Anthony Morris. In 1930, the Morris family gave the land to the University of Pennsylvania for use as an experimental farm. Danherst bought the farm a year ago from the University.

Levitt will have his guards back up 100 per cent. The use of cards, Hough said, was decided upon when the committee learned that Levitt had planned no identification system.

Two Birch Valley housewives, members of Birch Valley Women's League, told the Association of sectional problems.

Mrs. Wilma Fitzpatrick said a ridge at the rear of the houses from 20 to 52 Birch drive is causing from six inches to two feet of water to collect near the sloping backyards.

"The presence of water attracts children and is a constant threat to their lives," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said. "There is a danger that they will stray into it and be drowned."

The parents are continuously concerned. We do not want a Birch Valley tragedy to replace our memory of the Black Ditch tragedy.

"In dry spells, when the water doesn't move," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said, "it becomes a breeding place for mosquitoes." She said that residents had complained to Levitt & Sons "15 weeks ago, but no action was taken."

The same thing is true in Thornridge on the Newportville road site," said George Spiro, of 414 Thornridge drive.

The Association moved that the Health and Safety Committee be asked to bring the problem to the attention of the builder.

Mrs. Sarah Zuczek, of 69 Birch drive, complained that a wooded section near her home is being used for dumping. The site, she said, is bounded by Barbary lane, Birch drive, Boulder lane and Butternut lane. The Health and Safety committee was urged to act on this problem also.

mansion, but not the nearby stone house and barn, it was announced.

Levitt completed purchase of the Bolton farm from Danherst Corp., builders of Fairless Hills Village, in January. The mansion was built in 1687 by Phineas Pemberton, a Quaker emigre from England, who secured the land directly from William Penn.

A new section, including the front entrance was added to the house in 1790. The homestead remained in the Pemberton family for a century and went into the possession of the Morris family in the late 1700's after the marriage of Mary Pemberton to Anthony Morris.

In 1930, the Morris family gave the land to the University of Pennsylvania for use as an experimental farm. Danherst bought the farm a year ago from the University.

Lamb and Mutton Due This Summer

WASHINGTON—(INS)—There will be more lamb and mutton available at your butcher's this summer, but less in the fall and winter, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The government agency says this will be a big meat summer, since early slaughter of sheep and lambs was heavy, beef supplies are unusually heavy and supplies of veal will be correspondingly large.

Bathe for Rest, Relaxation

Bathe your way to beauty. There's nothing so relaxing as a tub filled with warm water and scented bubble bath.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WE have all been told over and over again that bathing is a health measure. It has cosmetic effects as well, giving fresh color to the complexion by speeding up circulation and helping the glands to function normally. Unless the body is kept fastidiously clean, free of dead skin cells, the beautiful BO may be upon one.

One should bathe for rest and relaxation. It's about the only time that the hard-working mother can have solitude, the business girl a welcome respite. It should be a sort of ritual, not something that must be hurried through. The ache will go out of weary muscles, leaving a refreshed feeling.

Bath Toilettries

Toilettries for the tubbing are real luxuries. By that we do not mean that they are expensive, but nice to use, making the bath more of an event. The effect on the complexion will be beneficial if it has a creamy cleansing beforehand, with plenty of the emollient left on to soften in the steamy atmosphere.

Bath salts not only impart fragrance; they soften the water. So do bubble baths that are such fun to use.

If the skin is dry, a bath oil should be used after a brisk rub-down with a coarse towel that takes hold like the pangs of a guilty conscience. If the skin is inclined to be oily, however, a friction with borated talcum is recommended.

Soap now comes in many forms. You can get colors to match your bathroom walls and linens, if you desire. A small bar is more convenient for face-washing, a large one best for the bath.

And don't forget that you can't get your skin really clean unless you use a brush, and put in the long handle when scouring your back. That's to keep little blackheads from forming there. As you haven't eyes in the back of your head, you'd never be aware of them. But they wouldn't look a bit pretty when you donned your formal.

Leonard A. Dyer, Radcliffe street, has bought a one-story Cape Cod type dwelling at the corner of Parkway and Wyoming aves., in Oakhurst section of Pennell, from Donald K. Oakley.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WE have all been told over and over again that bathing is a health measure. It has cosmetic effects as well, giving fresh color to the complexion by speeding up circulation and helping the glands to function normally. Unless the body is kept fastidiously clean, free of dead skin cells, the baneful BO may be upon one.

One should bathe for rest and relaxation. It's about the only time that the hard-working mother can have solitude, the business girl a welcome respite. It should be a sort of ritual, not something that must be hurried through. The ache will go out of weary muscles, leaving a refreshed feeling.

Bath Toilettries
Toilettries for the tubbing are real luxuries. By that we do not mean that they are expensive, but nice to use, making the bath more of an event. The effect on the complexion will be beneficial if it has a creamy cleansing beforehand, with plenty of the emollient left on to soften in the steamy atmosphere.

Bath salts not only impart fragrance; they soften the water. So do bubble baths that are such fun to use.

If the skin is dry, a bath oil should be used after a brisk rub-down with a coarse towel that takes hold like the pangs of a guilty conscience. If the skin is inclined to be oily, however, a friction with borated talcum is recommended.

Soap now comes in many forms. You can get colors to match your bathroom walls and linens, if you desire. A small bar is more convenient for face-washing, a large one best for the bath.

And don't forget that you can't get your skin really clean unless you use a brush, and put in the long handle when scouring your back. That's to keep little blackheads from forming there. As you haven't eyes in the back of your head, you'd never be aware of them. But they wouldn't look a bit pretty when you donned your formal.

PASSING OF AN AGE

Something beyond the passing of a great institution is foreshadowed in the announcement by a big shot in the industry that the nickel candy bar is on the way out.

When the five-cent candy bar goes, what, we ask, will we do for low-cost casual reading matter? For we must confess that along with the gastronomic pleasure from the toothsome — though lately shrunken — nickel's worth, was the stimulating mental exercise afforded by the mystifying list of ingredients on the wrapper.

As an inveterate reader of labels on ketchup bottles, aspirin tins and the like, many a person has enjoyed a five-minute escape from reality, trying to put together the components set forth on the candy wrapper so that they come out in the one cohesive streamlined unit just devoured.

With the nickel candy bar and its wrapper gone, one will never be able to solve the mystery of what makes glycerin, gelatin, lecithin, vegetable oil, emulsifier, plus a dash of sugar, cocoa and molasses and a pinch of bicarbonate, evolve into a favorite afternoon energizer.

Back in the Middle Ages, when there were no food laws or paper wrappers, European confectioners made candy in fancy shapes, frequently stamped with sprightly epigrams. Witty though these may have been, they could not measure up in reader interest to today's candy bar wrapper.

Guarding Kinsey's Book A Big Problem

By INEZ ROBB

BLOOMINGTON, IND., July 22—(INS)—It never occurred to me that someday I would have to pledge my life, my fortune and my sacred honor to review a book, or that I would need a pearl-handled pistol as well as a typewriter to accomplish the task.

But then, I reckoned without Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey and the most avidly awaited publication of the twentieth century "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." This companion piece to "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" it to be legally published early in the autumn.

Dr. Kinsey's biggest task at the moment is to prevent hungry, rival publishers from taking a premature ride on the gravy train with a pirated, abridged or telescoped version of the Kinsey work before the genuine article hits the stands.

Bloomington, once famous as the seat of Indiana University, but now as the home of the Kinsey Report, is said to be suffering from an influx of manuscript nappers. As a result, the good doctor has had to batten down the hatches and institute stern security measures to prevent the greatest literary steal of a generation.

Thus, before I was permitted to set foot in Bloomington—much less Wylie Hall, the University building out of which Dr. Kinsey operates—I had to pledge my life, my fortune and my sacred honor not to reveal a word of the new book before the general release date, 6 A. M., Central Standard Time, August 20, 1953.

This involved signing a three page, single-space, typewritten agreement solemnly promising not to talk to nobody, no time, nowhere until D-Day.

Well, I can clam up as good as the next reporter, so here I am. But I had not counted on the manuscript-nappers, or the million-dollar albatross around my neck. That is why I could use the pearl-handled pistol if I had it.

Because the albatross is the complete proof sheets of Dr. Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." They make a bundle four

by STELLA

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22—Born today, you have an exceptionally emotional nature. You feel everything keenly and sometimes imagine slights when they are not so intended. You have definite literary talent and should develop it from an early age. Although you were born with temperament, you rarely show it, except at times of moodiness. You do sometimes get depressed if things do not move as fast as you hope they will. But the next day you can be as bright and cheerful as ever, having overcome your obstacle and reached your objective.

You have a quiet way of going about what you want without talking too much about it. Once you set your mind on something, you go straight toward the mark without deviation. The stars say that you probably will make money and be able to have many of the material comforts of life. Your life is apt to work out in definite cycles. You will find that Thursdays are always good days for you and that one of the happiest events in your life may occur during the last week in some November!

You women make fine wives, for you are demonstrative and very loving. You may not use all of the common sense with which you are endowed. But your personal charm makes people forget that you should be practical or sensible! Yet, once you are faced with a difficult job, you get to work on it and finish it in good time.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read these corresponding paragraphs. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, July 23
CANCER (July 22-July 23)—There are opportunities in store for you right now. Be alert to them and take full advantage of them all.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—There may be intrigue all around you but make an attempt to stay clear of it. Otherwise, you court trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Do the hard jobs first and the rest will seem very easy, indeed. You can get a lot done that way!

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Be sure you know what you are doing and where you are going before you start. Otherwise, confusion!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Don't neglect important tasks. You will regret it, later on, unless you get them done right now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Intentions may be excellent but their practical application is what counts now. Maybe get a raise that way!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Bargains are to be had for all hunting. Keep an eye out for what you want and find it today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Grass may look much greener in someone else's back yard. But you'll find more gold right at home!

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Profits are to be had today, if you put forth your very best efforts, completing the job at hand.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—You can make a serious error unless you are very careful. Don't count your chickens before they are hatched.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—A fine time to take full advantage of all opportunities offered. This can be a time to make real profits.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Be alert to someone who may be trying to take advantage of your good nature. Time for you to be on your guard.

Wants Cleaner Dumps

Editor, Courier:

The problem of some dumps in Bristol township seems to be one without a solution thus far, although the complaints seem to increase. We are wondering if the dumps are not the reason for the pollution of local lakes and streams, as rain water from the dumps could easily pollute such ponds and creeks. At least it is worth looking into.

In the meanwhile, the residents of the township would appreciate prompt action on the malodorous odors from dumps. The smells are particularly stultifying in the hot summer days and nights, and it is hard enough trying to get some sleep without having to hold one's nose while doing so!

Comedy Slated For Yardley Theatre

YARDLEY, July 22—The exuberant "Hurd's Herd"—The Yardley Summer Playhouse troupe—has slated a fast-moving comedy of the theatre world for this week's production at the Community Centre on S. Main street—Moss Hart's celebrated "Light Up The Sky." The run is slated from July 21 through 25.

Producer-director John Hurd said that his thespians will carry out, in best theatrical tradition, Hart's story of a group of zany show people who are preparing the Boston try-out of a new play written by an author fresh from behind the cab of a tractor-trailer. When the feeling spreads around the theatre that the new play will be the moldiest kind of a lemon, all sorts of madness breaks loose as actors, producers and directors try to sabotage each other. The result is a typical evening of Moss Hart at his wittiest and funniest.

Alec Furman, who comes from Texas, will be seen in the role of the hyper-sensitive director. As the over-emotional royal lady of the "thea-tuh," Jackie Brooks will bring to the audience the full measure of Hart's clever lines. Pierre Epstein, born in France and at home in any language, will portray the aggressive but hardly brilliant producer.

Beans Total $45,000 in 1953

To Bucks county snap bean growers, green beans added up to $45,000 greenbacks last year.

According to a can company representative, the entire crop of 200 acres was purchased by canners and other processors.

"The state's canners continue to increase in importance as a source of farm income," said the can-making firm's Eastern Pennsylvania representative, who pointed out that "in 1939 only 38 per cent of the state's snap bean acreage went to processors compared to 60 per cent for last year."

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 22—At the close of the big three foreign ministers meeting in Washington, Georges Bidault, France's personable foreign minister, belabored U. S. critics of France for misunderstanding that nation's political aims.

France is not a popular nation with the average American. Bidault did not need to visit the U. S. to become acquainted with that fact.

But once here he decided to exercise what is apparently the sole prerogative of foreign officials. He sharpened up his verbal knives and hacked away at our convictions that France wouldn't fight a rabbit and is politically as red as a rose.

If one of our government officials opened his mouth publicly and said half as much about France as Bidault said about us, a wave of apoplexy would strike the state department and the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin, would suffer a diplomatic coma. The new deal and fair deal press and radio puppets would tear into the hapless man, however honest his conclusions, with all the venom usually reserved for Senator McCarthy.

France is fighting a war against Communism in Indo-China. We are now footing one third of the bill. Bidault and his superiors in Paris think it would be more adequate if we would pick up 50 per cent of the chit in the future.

In making the suggestion, French officials stress the "eternal friendship" of the two nations and ring in Lafayette, Belleau Woods and Flanders Field. These are excellent sentiments for nations to retain and they aid in alleviating the failure of France to resist with any degree of competence the attacks against that country in World War II.

Numerous officials in Washington applauded Bidault and attended the various social functions that are part of any diplomatic gathering. Loaded up on vintage champagne, our diplomats are excellent targets for French persuasion and it is here that promises are made for more American handouts for our courageous Allies.

Bidault is gone but his memory, for me at least, lingers on. His return to Paris was greeted with an announcement that his government touted in the U. S. as a stalwart anti-Communist regime, had just signed a mutual trade pact with Soviet Russia.

The trade agreement is for three years and involves $34,285,000 worth of "goods." "Goods" covers a lot of items and until further notice it is impossible to overlook the suspicion that some of the "goods" will be strategic, if not actually military.

The Germans and the Finns, penalized for resisting Russia and saddled with a multi-billion dollar reparations bill, continue to pay off their debts on schedule. The French and the British, in hock to us for billions, ignore the debt and scurry all over Moscow working out mutually beneficial trade agreements.

At the risk of being labeled crude by the State Department and its journalistic mimics, I beg to suggest that if France has $34,000,000 worth of goods to barter we ought to get first crack at whatever it is as a down payment on the loans we are handing over to help her fight the Reds in Indo-China.

The Russians, of course, are supplying the Communists in that war—a war that is costing the lives of citizens of France, whose government continues to trade with the enemy.

The British are past masters at this sort of thing and right now London is licking its chops over trade prospects with Communist China as soon as a Korean peace pact is signed.

At the suggestion of our State Department and Senator Wiley we are urged to overlook these minor facts and sit quietly while Bidault and his British counterpart lace into our conviction that trading with the enemy in time of war—and if this isn't such a time, it's closer to it than I like living through—is something less than cricket.

Until the under-the-table deals with Russia cease, France and Great Britain, however caustic the oratory, won't be able to talk sensible Americans out of the belief that you can't fight Communism by supplying Russia with the tools and equipment to wage war.

James L. Hayes' election as president of the National Advertising Company, Waukesha, Wis., was announced Monday.

Hayes, who joined the firm in July 1948, succeeds Herbert P. Ruotow, recently elected president of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company.

Kimberton's '53 Fair Season Opens Today

HARRISBURG, July 22 — Fair time is here again in Pennsylvania.

Kick-off for the 1953 county and community agricultural fair season is set for July 22 when the Kimberton Fair starts a 10-day stand at Kimberton, Chester county.

The season extends to November 21 when the Nazareth Farm Show closes its three-day event. In between will be more than 100 fairs that feature displays and offer premiums on all types of farm products ranging from tiny clover seeds to 2,000-pound bulls.

The Troy Fair runs the week of July 27 and the first week in August will see the Clearfield, Lycoming, Somerset and Bedford County fairs in operation all week, along with community fairs in Jennerstown, Nazareth, Towanda, Tioga and Wind Ridge, according to a list compiled by the State Department of Agriculture.

Fairs scheduled for the month of August total 38 but September is the big month with 44 to be held, 14 of them during the week of Labor Day.

Old Fiddlers' Picnic Slated August 1

The 25th Annual Old Fiddlers picnic, which 20,000 from 10 states attended last year, will be held at Lenape Park Saturday, August 1.

Christian C. Sanderson, of Chadds Ford, is chairman of the jubilee which will last from 10 a. m. until midnight. Square dancing is being planned by Ben Kelly, Coatesville; and Mrs. Ben Kelly is secretary.

Homemade mayonnaise will whip into shape earlier if the egg yolks are cold, just out of the refrigerator.

Franklin Downs Fifth Ward, 9-3, To Tie for Fourth

Franklin A. C. increased its lead on first place in the Bristol Softball League to three full games last evening as it registered an easy 9-3 victory over Fifth Ward Sporting Club on Memorial field. The loss shoved Fifth Ward back into a deadlock for fourth place.

Both teams hit the ball hard but Franklin hit in the clutch. The winners had 12 hits while Fifth Ward made 11 safe blows.

Sonny Field paced the Franklin hitters with a triple and pair of singles. He cleared the bags with his three-bagger in the second and was out at the plate trying to stretch the blow into a homer. This hit actually put the finishing touches on the game.

It was the 12th straight mound victory for "Chick" Stansky, Franklin hurler, who has been beaten but once this season, that defeat occurring on May 2. Stansky fanned six, including the side in the second.

"Smithers" Cordisco was the losing pitcher, the winners tapping his slow ball consistently.

Harriman A. C. Tops Pennel, 8-2

Harold Loud's grand slam in the first inning helped Harriman A. C. to beat the Pennel Aces last evening in a Tri-County Baseball League game on Terrace field. Final score was 8-2.

Loud's bases full homer came after Charlton and Pearl had walked and Katz was hit with a pitched ball. Following Loud's four-bagger, Ken Alfrey hit the triple but Hillary Cummons was the third out.

Jefferson Topples 3M's Playoff Hopes in 5-4 Tilt

3M's hope of getting in the playoffs of the Bristol Softball League was shattered as the scotch-tape makers bowed to Jefferson A. C., 5-4, in a closely-fought game on the loser's diamond.

The triumph brought a halt to the 10-game losing streak of Jefferson, a team which saw Manager Steve Clotti's team drop from second place to fifth position in the circuit.

The Jefferson boys won the game in the last half of the final frame. William Connors singled off Vito Marsaglia's glove and advanced to second when the pitcher attempted to throw him out. A wild pitch put Connors on third from where he crossed on a fly to center by Jack Bove.

3M's and the winners had eight hits each. Marsaglia was the losing pitcher and Johnny Clambella the winner.

Marsaglia did good work with the stick, getting three for three. For Minnesota Mining, Amy Lewis socked a homer with no one on base in the eighth. Tom Ruggieri and Connors had two hits each for Jefferson, while Frank Sagolla hit a four-bagger with one on base in the seventh.

Franklin Downs Fifth Ward, 9-3, To Tie for Fourth

Franklin A. C. increased its lead on first place in the Bristol Softball League to three full games last evening as it registered an easy 9-3 victory over Fifth Ward Sporting Club on Memorial field. The less shrewd Fifth Ward back into a deadlock for fourth place.

Both teams hit the ball hard but Franklin hit in the clutch. The winners had 12 hits while Fifth Ward made 11 safe blows.

Sonny Field paced the Franklin hitters with a triple and pair of singles. He cleared the bags with his three-bagger in the second and was out at the plate trying to stretch the blow into a homer. This hit actually put the finishing touches on the game.

It was the 12th straight mound victory for "Chick" Stansky, Franklin hurler, who has been beaten but once this season, that defeat occurring on May 2. Stansky fanned six, including the side in the second.

"Smithers" Cordisco was the losing pitcher, the winners tapping his slow ball consistently.
